Tally Ho Restaurant and Lounge

It was the custom for Kings of merrie olde England to entertain with a fox hunt. The rider who saw the fox first would cry out "Tally Ho" and would lead the chase. Soon the drivers of public coaches would cry out "Tally Ho" when they saw their first destination. The passengers showed their pleasure by echoing "Tally Ho, Tally Ho."

Thus, "Tally Ho" came to represent the first, the best, the leader. We here at the Tally Ho Restaurant proudly proclaim, by sign and name that we are your destination for quality food and a varied menu. Since the 1940s, a continuing number of guests, from all over the world, have dined at the Tally Ho.

We are pleased, you too, are included.
